Teen, Children's Classes Set To Roll

The South Shore Art Center at 103 Ripley Road is now enrolling Teen and Children's classes that will begin the week of Jan. 22.

Children's Theater with Barbara Elliott will be held on Tuesdays from 3:30-5 p.m. for ages 8-12. Students will learn the basics of good theater through mime improvisation and games which serve as a creative outlet as well as an important learning experience.

Creative Clay will take place on Wednesdays for ages through 12 with Marcy Baskin from 3:30-5 p.m. for six weeks and will be an exploration of clay as a three-dimensional medium; emphasis will be placed on creative ideas and originality will be encouraged. Supplies are included.

The Children's Art Workshop will meet on Thursdays from 3:30-5 p.m. for ages 7-12 with Marsha Komarin who will guide the group in sketching, drawing and painting in a variety of medium.

Teens may enroll in selected adult classes with permission of the teacher and the Director. College credit classes available are Painting with Iris Osterman, Introductory Painting with David Tandy and Art Anatomy-Drawing with John Lanza. Center classes available are Drawing & Painting with Virginia Moore, Oriental Brush Painting with Douglas Orr, Silk Screen with Ron Goodwin and Creative Drawing and Painting with Louise Kalish. Beginning Photography with Linda Wasko on Monday evenings is available as well as Saturday workshops in painting with Rosalind Farbush, Watercolor with Virginia Avery and Matting and Framing with Joseph Burbank. Teens may participate in uninstructed studio held on Friday afternoons or on Saturday when no workshop is scheduled.

For further information call the Center at 383-9548 between noon and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Special Workshops will be offered on Saturdays starting Feb. 3; Painting with Rosalind Farbush, Watercolor with Virginia Avery and Introduction to Matting and Framing with Joseph Burbank. In addition, Uninstructed Studio will be available to informal groups on Friday afternoons and on Saturdays when no workshops are scheduled.

Drawing and Painting courses are offered throughout the week beginning with Basic Drawing and Painting taught by Virginia Moore on Monday evenings where the student learns the basics of form, perspective and tone; Portraiture in Pastels with Constance Flavell Pratt where students work from the model with an emphasis on creating a likeness; Portraiture with Clement Micarellin on Tuesday evenings with a model each week and an emphasis on composition, color and values; Watercolor Painting with Mary Ann Patrick on Wednesday mornings where all techniques of watercolor will be taught; Experimental Workshop with Joseph Burbank on Wednesday evenings where students may explore any area they desire; Silk Screen on Thursday evenings with Ron Goodwin where screen making will be taught along with techniques of printing; Creative Drawing and Painting with Louise Kalish on Friday mornings with an emphasis on design, color theory and composition.

Photography will be offered for beginners on Monday evenings and for intermediate and advanced students on Tuesday evenings. The instructor is Linda Wasko who will emphasize in her beginning class how the camera works, how to develop and print black and white film and how to improve composition.

The intermediate-advanced class will be taught with a demonstration, critique approach and will work on special projects toward developing a finer print; advanced students will explore tone-line separation, high-contrast prints and other topics. Both classes will have individual darkroom time for completing assignments.

A One-day Photography Workshop will be offered by Peter Anderson in his Hull studio on March 31 where the students (advanced only) will bring their own prints and negatives for discussion of problem solving.

Individual Darkroom will again be offered on a time-to-be-arranged basis as well as Camera Club which will hold its first meeting Jan. 24 at 8 p.m.

Children's Classes have been expanded with separate classes in Drawing & Painting and in Clay. Marsha Komarin will teach the At Workshop in Drawing and Painting on Thursday afternoons for ages 7-12 which will include working from nature as well as free-form imaginative approaches. Marcy Baskin is teaching Creative Clay (ages 7-12) on Wednesday afternoons where original approaches will be encouraged through molding, modeling and using natural elements.

Children's Theater is an enjoyable workshop for ages 8-12 taught by Barbara Elliott using mime, improvisation and games to learn theater basics.

For further information call 383-9548 Monday-Friday, noon to 4 p.m.
